NSC Executive Committee Record of Action, November 19, 1962, 10:00 AM
Meeting No. 27

1. Director McCone summarized the weekend intelligence and commented on Cuban orders to their antiaircraft units to fire on reconnaissance planes.
2. Secretary Rusk reported on yesterday's McCloy-Kuznetsov talk.
3. Following a general discussion of the need for overflights and the effect of such flights on the Cubans and the Russians, the President authorized high-level reconnaissance missions today but no low-level sorties.
4. There was a discussion of the President's press statement for tomorrow. The President asked that two drafts be ready this afternoon; one for use if the Russians have replied on the IL-28 bombers and another if no reply has been received or if the reply is ambivalent.
5. The President reviewed the political and military actions which may have to be taken this week. He requested that recommended courses of action be presented later today for his consideration.
